Program Integrity Rule

The U.S. Department of Education issued regulations to improve the integrity of programs authorized under Title IV of the Higher Education Act (HEA), as amended (the "Program Integrity Rule"). The Program Integrity Rule requires, among other things, that a university authorized to offer postsecondary education in one or more states ensure access to a complaint process that will permit student consumers to address the following:

1. Alleged violations of state consumer protection laws that include but are not limited to fraud and false advertising;
2. Alleged violations of state laws or rules relating to the licensure of postsecondary institutions; and
3. Complaints relating to the quality of education or other State or accreditation requirements.

Oregon State University, as an institution authorized to provide postsecondary education in the State of Oregon, is committed to full compliance with the Program Integrity Rule, and provides the following confirmation to all current and prospective students:

The Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities accredits Oregon State University. You may review Oregon State University's accreditation information at:

Complaint Process

Oregon State University is committed to resolving all student concerns in a timely and effective manner. To that end, resources at Oregon State University are available to current and prospective students for the resolving of complaints. Resources include those listed in the student appeals and grievance policies, available at:
http://leadership.oregonstate.edu/files/policies/student\_appeals\_and\_grievances\_576-022.pdf.

Students are encouraged to work through internal university processes for resolution of complaints. If a student believes that the university's procedures have not adequately addressed concerns identified under the Program Integrity Rule, the following links and contact information are provided.
